

March Break - No Worries

If you are going away for March break, with a SolarVu energy portal, one thing you do not need to be concerned with is guessing how your solar generation system is performing. Check the emailed daily output report to see earnings each day. View local Canadian weather reports on the SITE screen to see what you are not missing back home while sitting on the beach. SolarVu runs continuous analytics and will alert your maintenance provider if any problems that need attention are detected. Get the full picture while you are away with no surprises when you get back. Pina Colada anyone?
